

Erwin Utilities' Privacy Policy

Visit www.e-u.cc to access company, products, and services information, along with news and event updates, without telling us who you are or revealing personal information. The only data we collect and store during normal website usage is typical web server log data. Examples of this type of data are: the name of your Internet service provider, the site that referred you to us, any pages you request, and the time and date of those requests etc. We use this information to generate statistics and measure site activity to benefit www.e-u.cc users. This same information may be shared with third parties in order to provide analytical services or to analyze, store, or aggregate the information.

There are instances where Erwin Utilities requests personally identifiable information to provide site visitors with a service. This information, such as name, mailing address, email address, and type of request, is collected and stored in a manner appropriate to the nature of the request, as determined by Erwin Utilities, to fulfill your needs. To reiterate, all information you provide is used to improve the services offered by Erwin Utilities. This information may also be provided to our agencies for use on behalf of Erwin Utilities in accordance with our privacy statement. However, it is never provided or sold to any other company for that company's independent use. During the course of your visit, you may move to other Erwin Utilities websites. In addition, this site may provide links to third party sites not controlled by Erwin Utilities, such as those belonging to vendors or clients. It is recommended that you check the specific privacy statements of any site before providing any personally identifiable information.

A "cookie" is a small line of text that is stored within your browser when you visit a cookie-enabled website. As you browse the Web, cookie-enabled sites will send cookies to your browser, along with pages. Your browser probably has options that will let you control whether the browser accepts cookies, rejects cookies, or notifies you each time a cookie is sent to you. If your browser is set to reject cookies, cookie-enabled websites will not recognize you when you return. This provides you with anonymity, but it also makes it very difficult to offer you customized services. It is also less secure than using cookies, because all of your specific data must be sent to the website each time you view a page. Accepting cookies means your private data can stay at the Web server, and the only information transmitted over the Internet is your ID cookie. If your browser is set to accept cookies, any cookies that are sent to your browser are stored in your computer for a period of time. There are a few different types of cookies. A "session" cookie is stored only in your computer's working memory (RAM) and only lasts for your browsing session. When you close all of your browser's windows, or when you shut down your computer, the session cookie disappears forever. A "permanent" cookie is stored on your computer's hard drive until a specified date, which could be tomorrow, next week, or 10 years from now. Permanent cookies stay on your computer until either: a) they expire, b) they are overwritten with newer cookies, c) you manually remove them.

To use our Internet services, such as applications for service or other forms, we require a certain amount of personally identifying information. That information may be in the form of a name, account number, zip code, or personal identification number. We use this information to verify that you are an Erwin Utilities customer or meet the criteria required to process your request. We may also use this information to enhance our understanding of you and improve our services.

Website users may decide to send Erwin Utilities personally identifying information via email. We will use this information for the purpose identified in the email message and to enhance our understanding of you in order to improve our services to you. A revised privacy statement will only apply to data collected subsequent to its effective date on this version of the website. Any revisions will be posted at least 7 days prior to its effective date. New versions of this website may have a new privacy statement effective with its launch.
